📕 LECTURE : PROMPTS FOR GENERATING THE STORY

Welcome back 👏

Now that you understand the storytelling foundation, it's time to learn how to generate your story ideas with ChatGPT — the same way I do when I create my viral Historika shorts.

These prompts will help you turn any topic into a powerful, cinematic narrative with twists, emotions, and depth.

You don't need to start with a "perfect" idea.
You just need a seed — a person, event, theme, or mystery — and the prompts will do the rest.

🧠 STEP 1 — FIND UNIQUE ANGLES

Use this first prompt to make ChatGPT uncover underexplored or unusual reasons behind your topic.

Copy and paste this:

I've been thinking about [ insert your topic here ] lately.
Can you give me 10 unusual, surprising, or underexplored reasons why this happened / existed / became important?
Please number them clearly.
I'm looking for story angles that most people don't talk about.
```

💡 Tip:
This step helps you move beyond the obvious facts.
For example:
If your topic is "The fall of the Roman Empire" — you'll get angles like "lead poisoning," "religious conflicts," or "economic inflation," but also lesser-known ones like "climate cooling" or "disease spread through trade routes."

🧩 STEP 2 — DEEPEN YOUR ANGLE

Once ChatGPT gives you those 10 angles, pick the most intriguing one — the one that feels emotional or mysterious.

Then, use this follow-up prompt:

I think reason number [ insert number here ] is really interesting.
Can you break down that one reason into 5 short, specific ideas — events, turning points, contradictions, or facts — that are shocking, emotional, or visually powerful?
Keep them tightly related to that reason.
```

🎯 Goal:
Get visual moments and emotional hooks you can later turn into animation scenes.

Example:
If you chose "betrayal inside the royal family" — ChatGPT might return ideas like:

- A letter that never reached the king
- A general switching sides mid-battle
- A crown forged from melted weapons

Those are cinematic moments your AI visuals can now bring to life.

⁉️ STEP 3 — BUILD YOUR HOOK

Once you have your core idea, use this structure to write the opening hook of your video — the first 3 seconds that make people stop scrolling.

Paste this prompt:

I want you to help me create a short, dramatic hook in this format for [insert your topic].
Don't mention names, countries, or places directly. Use words like "this man," "this woman," "this city," etc.

Here's the structure I want:

Start with: "This [character type]"
Add a short phrase describing where or when, in parentheses.
Then, add one powerful trait or unique detail that makes them special.
Then, describe one key action they did.
Then, pause (add a line break or em dash).
Finally, give a twist or consequence.

Example:
This girl (in medieval France) dressed like a soldier, claimed she spoke to God, and led an army — just to be betrayed by the king she fought for.
```

💡 Why this works:
It creates instant curiosity and empathy while leaving just enough mystery to make people keep watching.

🎥 STEP 4 — WRITE THE FULL STORY

Now, let's combine everything into a cinematic, short-form story structure.
This is where your viral story takes form.

Use this final prompt exactly as written:

```
Write a dramatic short story in this exact format and pacing for this story.
Each sentence should be short and cinematic — like subtitles. No long paragraphs.

Follow this 7-part structure exactly:

□ CONTEXT (PART 1)
Start with the date and place: "It's [year]. [City or country]."
Introduce characters and setup in simple, factual lines.
Add a cultural or shocking historical norm.

🔸 SMALL TWIST (PART 2)
Use a transitional line like "And for a while… it worked."
Add one or two sentences showing early success or tension.

⚫ PLOT TWIST (PART 3)
Show what went wrong — betrayal, ambition, downfall.
End with a dramatic shift (exile, death, or change of power).

□ CONTEXT (PART 4)
Show how the main character responded — short, visual actions.

🔸 SMALL TWIST (PART 5)
Add quiet tension (e.g. "And one night… she returned.")

⚫ FINAL CONSEQUENCE (PART 6)
Reveal the major event or fallout — keep it mysterious.

□ REVEAL (PART 7)
Final punchline with identity:
"And the [girl/man/place] who did it… was [name]."

Tone should be cold, factual, and visual — like a narrated historical short.
No explanations. Just actions and outcomes.
```

🔥 BONUS EXAMPLE

Here's how ChatGPT might output a story using these prompts 👇

> It's 1917. Russia.
> A young woman works as a nurse near the front.
> Every night, she writes letters — not to her family, but to the soldiers she treats.
> And for a while… it gave them hope.
> Until one day, a commander read the letters — and realized none of the soldiers existed.
> She was writing to the ghosts of men already dead.
> — and the nurse who did it… was named Maria Ivanova.

See how short, rhythmic, and cinematic it feels?
That's the storytelling rhythm that captures attention instantly.

🧭 ACTION STEPS

✅ Choose a topic you love (History, Sports, News, Celebrities, or Fiction).
✅ Follow the 4-step prompt chain above.
✅ Save your final story script — you'll use it in the next lesson to generate visuals and animations.
