The Life-Force 8: What Humans Actually Want

Before we talk about scripts, we need to talk about desire.

Consumer psychologists have identified 8 core desires that are biologically hardwired into every human being.

These aren't learned preferences. They're not cultural. They're built into our DNA.

They call them the Life-Force 8:

1. Survival, enjoyment of life, life extension
2. Enjoyment of food and beverages
3. Freedom from fear, pain, and danger
4. Sexual companionship
5. Comfortable living conditions
6. To be superior, winning, keeping up with the Joneses
7. Care and protection of loved ones
8. Social approval

Here's why this matters for you:

When your content taps into any of these desires, you're not trying to convince someone to care.

They already care. Biologically. Unavoidably.

You can't talk someone out of wanting to avoid pain. You can't reason someone out of wanting to feel superior.

You can't logic someone out of wanting social approval.

These desires are always running in the background. Your job is to tap into them.

Look at Yang Mun's content through this lens:

"Life is going to work out perfectly for you" → Life enjoyment, freedom from fear

"You will wake up every morning next to the love of your life" → Sexual companionship, comfortable living

"You try to sleep but your mind won't let you" → Freedom from pain, comfortable living

"The people who doubted you will see your transformation" → Superiority, social approval

He's not inventing desire. He's tapping into desire that already exists.

For your niche, ask yourself:

Which of the Life-Force 8 does my audience feel most strongly?

- Spiritual/wellness → Freedom from fear and pain, life enjoyment, social approval
- Fitness → Sexual companionship, superiority, social approval
- Relationship → Sexual companionship, care for loved ones, social approval
- Business/money → Superiority, comfortable living, social approval
- Health → Survival, freedom from pain, life extension

Your scripts should consistently touch on the 2-3 Life-Force desires most relevant to your niche. Not by mentioning them directly, but by painting pictures that activate them.