imarketing.courses

CONTENTSYSTEM.AI

MODULE 8.1

What To Do The Moment You Go Viral

The window is open and you move immediately. The single biggest mistake is going viral and not being ready to catch it.

imarketing.courses

MODULE 8.1

What To Do The Moment You Go Viral

When a video breaks out, the window is open and you move immediately. The single biggest mistake is going viral and not being ready to catch it.

1

Make sure the path to buy actually exists and works

The link in your bio points to a live, working store with the product on it. If you went viral before the store was ready, getting it live is the emergency, because every hour of viral attention with no working link is money walking out the door.

2

Feed the thing that is working

The moment a video takes off, you do not sit back and admire it, you spam it. Make more of that exact video with the small one-element changes from the split-testing system, and push it across your other accounts and platforms. A viral video is the algorithm telling you it wants more of this, so you give it more while it is hot.

THE COMMON BEGINNER MISTAKE

People post a video, it does well, and then they never make another one like it. They just move on to the next idea. That is exactly backwards. When something works, the move is not to find a new concept, it is to make that same concept again, and again, and again, changing only small things like the audio, background, text, or a single movement. The whole video stays nearly identical, because the whole video is what hit. When a video works, copy yourself before you copy anyone else.

3

Work the comments

This is where you convert attention into intent. Reply, pin a comment that tells people how to get the product, and use comment-to-DM automation (covered in the backend module) so everyone asking where to get this is funneled toward the link automatically. Going viral creates a flood of people asking how to buy. Your job is to make sure not one of them has to go hunting.