120+ Highly Effective Prompts With Examples

Read This First

This playbook is your quick system for turning ideas into consistent visuals in Gemini Nano Banana or any image tool. Follow these rules so your results match the examples and you avoid common mistakes.

Choose the right starting mode

- Use the highest quality image model available, not a fast or preview model.
- Set aspect ratio to match the prompt. If none is given, pick the platform target first and keep it consistent across a series.

Handle variables with care

- Bracketed tokens like [SUBJECT], [LOGO], [COLOR], [SCENE] must be replaced.
- Some prompts have unmarked variables. Change obvious placeholders such as product names, materials, brand colors, locations, and camera details if they do not fit your goal.
- Keep replacements concrete and measurable. Example: replace “bright color” with “neon orange #FF6A00”.

- Upload a single, sharp headshot or mid-shot, front facing, neutral background, no heavy filters.
- Keep the same person across variations by reusing the same reference and enabling identity lock if the tool provides it.
- Avoid occlusions like sunglasses or hats unless the prompt requests them.
- For kids or private subjects, get consent and avoid public sharing unless you own the rights.

Brand and product images

- Use vector or PNG logos with transparent backgrounds.
- Match packaging dielines and proportions in the prompt to avoid warped labels.
- Specify material, finish, and lighting, for example matte paper, softbox 45˚, rim light.
- Keep brand colors exact with hex codes. Do not invent new shades unless testing.

Output quality and consistency

- Render at the target size. If the tool supports upscaling, upscale once at the end.
- Lock seeds or use version control notes so you can reproduce a look.
- For multi-image sets, repeat lens, lighting, and background rules so the series feels cohesive.

Ethics, rights, and safety

- Only use photos and logos you own or have permission to use.
- Do not mimic living artists or trademarked characters unless you have licensed rights.
- Avoid misleading photorealistic edits of real people in sensitive contexts.

Troubleshooting fast

- If faces drift, increase identity strength and simplify the scene.
- If text on packaging warps, reduce angle, use shorter names, and render at a larger size.
- If colors shift, restate the hex code and reduce competing color terms.

Save your work clearly

- Use a naming pattern: Project_Variant_Aspect_Seed_Date.
- Keep prompts next to outputs so you can iterate with intent.

Read once, keep nearby, and update your variables before every run for reliable, on-brand results.

Create a hyper-realistic 1080 x 1350 vertical image of a man standing in an urban Melbourne laneway, holding a large, oversized Creator PlanetX logo prop — designed to look like a bold, futuristic 3D emblem with smooth matte surfaces and glowing accents. Use the subject from the uploaded man photo exactly as he appears — apply a critical identity lock to preserve his real facial features, hairstyle, skin tone, and expression with no alterations.
He is styled in Melbourne-inspired streetwear: a fitted black T-shirt with the words “I ❤️ Creator PlanetX” printed across the chest in clean, bold font, paired with dark cargo pants and neon sneakers that pop with retro flair. Over his shoulders is a lightweight bomber jacket with subtle metallic details, giving him a stylish, tech-forward vibe. Accessories can include a smartwatch and minimalist silver chain.
The background features a real Melbourne laneway such as Hosier Lane, with graffiti textures, cobblestone pavement, and muted concrete tones that make the Creator PlanetX logo glow and stand out as the focal point. Lighting is soft golden-hour daylight with natural lens flare and realistic shadows cast across the pavement.

Camera setup:

- Canon EOS R5
- RF 50mm f/1.2L lens for sharp clarity and shallow depth of field
- Shot at f/1.8, 1/500s, ISO 100 for balanced exposure
- Image is framed mid-shot (waist up) or full-body depending on space
- Realistic texture on clothing, sharp detail on logo surface, and natural skin rendering

The final image should feel stylish, powerful, and futuristic — a real-world fashion portrait fused with Creator PlanetX identity at the centre.

Create an ultra-realistic, action food photography scene of a cold-pressed mustard oil bottle rising from a sizzling pan. The bottle is the clear hero, centered slightly above the pan with golden rim light and crisp specular highlights. Label is clean and perfectly legible, reading exactly: [Creator PlanetX]. From the pan, vibrant Indian ingredients explode upward and freeze mid-air: black mustard seeds, dried red chilies, sliced onions, garlic cloves, tomato wedges, fresh coriander. Micro oil droplets and splash arcs glisten around the bottle. Background: warm cinematic kitchen bokeh with a subtle gradient and open negative space in the top third for copy. Color palette: deep golds, chili red, charred umber, jade green, slate gray. Lighting: high-contrast three-point setup with a strong backlight kicker through light haze for glow, soft key from camera left, gentle bounce fill from below; polarizer effect to control reflections. Camera look: 85 mm macro, f/2.8, 1/4000 s, shallow depth of field locking focus on the label. Texture fidelity: condensation on glass, fine spice grains, sizzling steam wisps. Style: product-hero, high-end commercial, sharp, clean, glossy.
Label styling note

Use a premium, modern sans-serif. Main line: [Creator PlanetX], white lettering on a deep slate label with thin gold accent ring; no extra words, no misspellings, no substitutions. Keep kerning even and edges razor-sharp.

Create a minimal, bold studio product shot of a single hand centered in frame holding three packaged snack bars fanned outward so every front label is fully visible. Background is a seamless solid color: vivid orange or a bold pastel. Keep the scene distraction-free. Packaging should pop with saturated color blocks, crisp typography, and clean edges; no wrinkles, dents, or foil noise. Lighting is sharp and even with high contrast on the bars and zero shadows on the background. Use a controlled three-light setup: hard key from camera left, softer fill on axis, narrow rim kicker to separate edges; add diffusion or a scrim to avoid specular glare across labels. Camera look: 85 mm studio lens, f/8 for front-to-back label sharpness, base ISO, tripod-steady. Hand styling: neutral nail finish, moisturized skin, no jewelry, natural skin texture. Composition: bars angled ~20–30 degrees outward, small negative space above for copy, perfect verticals, no Dutch tilt. Style: modern, playful, eye-catching, high-contrast, ultra-clean, no props, no additional text or logos beyond the packages.

Background palette ideas: vivid orange #FF6A00, pastel coral #FFA07A, bold mint #35E0B6, electric lilac #B487FF

Create an ultra-HD 8K miniature scene of tiny construction workers assembling a gigantic gourmet burger on a clean studio tabletop. The burger is center stage and hero sharp. Workers in hard hats and hi-vis vests stack crisp lettuce, tomato slices, and a molten cheese layer; another crew grills an oversized patty with miniature blowtorches that emit faint blue flame. A sauce team spreads a glossy aioli with tiny brushes; a precision crew places sesame seeds on the top bun using tweezers. Add fine steam rising from the patty and long cheese pulls melting over the edge for mouthwatering realism. Include micro tools and set pieces: toothpick scaffolding, bamboo skewer crane, measuring tape, tiny traffic cones, stainless bowls, and a step ladder made from fry boxes. Lighting is high-end food photography: big soft key from above front, warm rim kicker from back right simulating grill glow, gentle fill from camera left, controlled highlights on sauces and bun glaze, no harsh hotspots. Background is seamless and softly blurred. Camera look: 90–105 mm macro, f/8 to keep workers and burger layers tack sharp, shallow falloff to the background, tripod steady. Color palette: warm bun amber, charred umber, lettuce jade, tomato carmine, cheese golden. No brands, no text.

The base of the scene is made of soil, rocks, and moss, with photorealistic textures and imperfections. The lighting inside the cap mimics natural morning sun, casting soft shadows and warm tones, while the outside has cold ambient reflections from the surrounding keyboard. cut cleanly THE [OBJECT] in half across the middle, the top and bottom halves slightly separated and floating apart.
Between the halves, instead of the natural inside, there is a stylized cartoon nuclear explosion effect: a central vertical column of glowing yellow-orange bubble smoke, with a wide horizontal shockwave ring of round bubbly clouds spreading to the sides, fiery glowing highlights above and below the shockwave, creating the impression of intense heat and energy
The outside of the [OBJECT] remains photorealistic with detailed texture and lighting, while the inner effect is highly graphic and playful, giving a striking contrast between realism and cartoon. Studio lighting, centered composition

A hyper-realistic, professional interior design photograph of a modern living room inspired by a [Superhero]. The room has clean lines, a neutral color palette of greys, blacks, and whites, with accents of [Theme Color]. A large, stylized 3D wall sculpture of the [Superhero] dominates the main wall. Subtle thematic details are placed throughout the room, such as framed art prints of blueprints, a floor lamp designed to resemble a specific motif (e.g., a shield or logo), and a side table with a few well-placed props (e.g., a stylized helmet). The furniture is contemporary and minimalist, with a large, comfortable sofa and a low coffee table. Dramatic, focused lighting highlights the main wall sculpture, while warm ambient light from windows and lamps creates an inviting atmosphere. The overall style is sophisticated and elegant, a subtle homage rather than an overt fan-tribute.

Based on my uploaded photo generate A monochrome studio portrait posed against a dark backdrop. He wear a fitted black T-shirt, dark denim jeans, and a watch on the left wrist. his hair is neatly styled and he have round glasses that add to the thoughtful mood. The pose is confident yet reserved: the left arm folded across the torso while the right hand rests near the lips, partly concealing them. The expression is calm, with a hint of mystery. Strong side lighting accentuates the facial structure, glasses, and arm definition. The overall style is minimalistic and cinematic, highlighting shadow, contrast, and natural proportions so the head and body remain balanced.

Based on my uploaded photo create a cinematic portrait at dusk on a modern city street with shallow depth of field and warm bokeh lights. Place large 3D extruded letters on the wet pavement spelling ALTIAM on the top row and KABIR on the bottom row. Letters are glossy metallic blue with beveled edges, soft reflections, and subtle rim highlights. The same South Asian man sits casually on the top row, one foot planted on the B of KABIR, the other dangling. Wardrobe: mustard yellow t-shirt, olive green joggers with cargo pockets, bright orange sneakers. Friendly confident expression, light stubble. Add tiny glowing ember particles drifting in the air. Background is softly blurred skyscrapers and street poles; no crowds. Overall mood crisp, premium, ad-like.

A collage of 9 editorial-style photos featuring the male character from the reference image. The theme is vibrant yellow: the background, objects, items, and props are all dynamically colored in shades of yellow, except for the human figure. Each collage frame is outlined with a bright yellow border. The man matches the reference photo — about 185 cm tall, 76 kg, ideal physique — and is styled in a modern casual all-orange outfit: a long-sleeved open yellow shirt layered over a light yellow t-shirt. The composition should feel bold, stylish, and editorial

A cinematic black and white portrait of me, keeping my real face unchanged. I am sitting in a relaxed, dominant pose on a dark leather armchair. My legs are spread apart naturally, emphasizing confidence and presence. My left arm rests heavily on the armrest, holding a glass tumbler filled with liquid, slightly tilted in a casual yet commanding gesture. My right arm is draped across the backrest, relaxed and open, showing ease and self-assurance. I am wearing a white button-down shirt with the top buttons undone, exposing part of my chest. The shirt is slightly wrinkled, contributing to a rugged, masculine style. Black suspenders hang firmly over my shoulders, contrasting against the white shirt and adding a classic, vintage touch. My trousers are black, slim-fitted, completing the monochrome outfit. The look combines elegance with a raw, powerful edge. My head is tilted slightly downward, and my gaze is directed toward the ground, giving a brooding, introspective mood. My expression is calm yet intense, embodying quiet strength and masculinity. The background is minimalistic, plain, and softly lit, keeping the focus entirely on me and the dramatic atmosphere. The black and white tones create high contrast, emphasizing textures—the shine of the leather chair, the crispness of the shirt, the smoothness of the glass, and the shadows on my body. The camera is positioned at eye-level, framed from the thighs up, with a portrait focal length around 85mm. The perspective creates natural proportions, focusing on my powerful seated pose and the interplay of light and shadow. Style: cinematic, moody, high-contrast black and white photography, editorial fashion portrait, masculine and powerful aesthetic. same face

On a textured stone gallery wall, three empty frames hang in a loose triangle like connected portals. Inside each frame appears the same South Asian man at three moments, each in a different suit color and doing a different action with the same bright yellow liquid.
Top-left ornate gold frame: the man in a cobalt suit plays a polished brass trumpet, but instead of sound, a ribbon of glossy yellow paint flows upward from the bell, weightless, twisting into the next frame.
Top-right silver frame: the man in a charcoal suit leans out with a painter's palette knife, slicing the flying paint ribbon into neat floating cubes and droplets that drift downward.
Bottom wide antique wood frame: the man in a vibrant magenta suit pops halfway out holding an upside-down transparent umbrella. The sliced paint cubes fall into the umbrella and melt into a glowing puddle that overflows onto the gallery floor outside the frame.
Make the faces clearly the same person. Hyper-realistic textures, cinematic studio lighting, soft key from upper left, gentle rim from right, crisp shadowing on stone, reflective highlights on trumpet, knife, and umbrella.
