TikTok Reality

TikTok is currently one of the fastest platforms to grow in this niche.

But it's also the most dynamic and unpredictable.

Here's how it works in reality.

Creator Rewards Program (CRP)

As of today, to qualify for the Creator Rewards Program, you generally need:

- 10,000 followers
- 100,000 views in the last 30 days
- To be 18+
- To meet TikTok's community guidelines
- To be located in an eligible country (it can be bypassed):

  ✅ United States (USA)
  ✅ United Kingdom (UK)
  ✅ Germany
  ✅ France
  ✅ Japan
  ✅ South Korea
  ✅ Brazil
  ✅ Mexico

I also need to mention that it can be bypassed if you are in an ineligible country and still earn by using a proxy and a separate phone.

How to do that?
You reset the second phone to factory settings, set it entirely to the United States (everything), turn off location, Bluetooth, tracking, create a new email also set to the United States and install a proxy app.

More information about the full TikTok setup can be found here:

After reaching 10,000 followers, you can apply for CRP.

From that moment, your videos that are over one minute long will start earning between $0.10 and even $2 RPM, depending on whether you receive additional rewards or not.

Videos in this niche are very easy to make over one minute long, so it is definitely worth it.

Earnings & RPM

In this niche, making videos longer than 1 minute is very easy if you structure your script properly.

That’s why this format works extremely well for CRP.

RPM can range from:

$0.10 up to $2.00 per 1,000 views,

depending on:

- Audience location
- Retention
- Engagement
- Whether additional rewards are applied

Some videos earn more, some less - it varies.

Important Note

Only videos over 1 minute qualify for Creator Rewards earnings.

If your video is under 60 seconds, it will not generate CRP revenue.

That’s why structuring your script correctly is important.

TikTok can scale extremely fast.

If your content hits the right audience with strong retention, growth can happen quickly.

But like any platform, it requires consistency and clean execution.
